POPULAR PASTOR OF GERMANTOWN DIED ON SUNDAY

Rev. C. W. Williams, Popular Methodist Minister and prominent in Fraternal Circles, Dies After Long Illness.

Rev. C. W. Williams, pastor of the Germantown M. E. Church, South, died at his home in that town Sunday morning at about 5 o'clock after an illness of a few months of tuberculosis. "Brother" Williams, as he was affectionately called by the people of the Germantown neighborhood, had been in fairly good health until about three months ago when he was taken suddenly with tuberculosis. His physicians advised that he leave this section for a better climate and he had made arrangements to move immediately to Texas but he sank so rapidly that the end came before he was ready to leave for the South in search of health.

Mr. Williams was 55 years of age and is survived by his wife and one son, Roy Williams, of Dayton, Ohio. A short funeral service will be held from the home in Germantown Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock and the body will be taken to his old home at Cynthiana where funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Burial will be made at Cynthiana.

Mr. Williams was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity and the Order of Odd Fellows. He was beloved by all who knew him and the people of Germantown are greatly shocked at his death.

The matter will no doubt take its usual course and be referred to the Police Committee to hold a thorough investigation and make its recommendations to Council.

A HONEYMOON WITH THE WRONG GROOM.

She fell in love with her brother-in-law, but it was a love as pure as the mountain air. On the night of the wedding she told him she knew she had been "bought," that they were man and wife in the eyes of the world, but that was all. See Dustin Farnum in "Big Happiness" at the Pastime Wednesday.

WIRE-WALKER DEFIES DEATH FROM HOUSE TOP.

A demonstration of high wire walking in Market street Saturday attracted a great audience. A wire had been stretched from the top of the J. J. Wood & Son building to the Brady-Coffee building and the artist did some death defying stunts suspended in air. It was one of the most clever demonstrations of high wire walking seen here.

FIRE PREVENTION DEVICE INSTALLED AT OPERA HOUSE

All Danger From Fires By Burning Film Is Removed By Installation Of Latest Improved Protector.

The management of the Washington opera house has just installed the latest improved protector for films run through their machines which removes all possible danger from fires which might have caught from burning film.

The new device consists of a rotating switch, controlled exclusively by the film as it passes through the machine and is connected with an automatic fire shutter and the motor driving the projecting machine. The instant the film breaks, the motor and machine are stopped and the light cut off simultaneously. The little attachment is a real "safety-first" appliance and is but another progressive step taken by the management of this popular show house in their constant efforts to improve their service and the better protect their audiences.

Mr. Davidson, the expert operator at the Washington, is very much pleased with the new attachment and says it works perfectly.

BATAVIA YOUTH IS KILLED WHEN AUTO IS STRUCK BY FLIER

Allan McAfee, of Batavia, Ohio, Killed At Lockland At Early Hour This Morning In Train-Auto Collision.

Allan McAfee, nineteen years old, Batavia, Ohio, was killed, and Miss Marie Young, seventeen years old, of Norwood, was injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Big Four passenger train at a street crossing at Lockland, at 1 o'clock Monday morning.

Miss Josephine McAfee, 26 years old, a sister of the youth, escaped injury by leaping from the machine a few moments before the flier, bound for Detroit, plowed into the machine. McAfee, who was driving the automobile, was killed instantly. His head was crushed beyond identity. Fifteen minutes before the accident occurred McAfee let Warden Kniesley, 28 years old, of Hillsboro, Ohio, out of the machine at the end of the Lockland street car line.

The party was returning home after an automobile ride, when McAfee approached the railroad crossing. He was half way across the tracks when the passenger train bore down on the tracks.

Miss Josephine McAfee leaped from the automobile. The locomotive struck the automobile on the side where McAfee was driving. The impact was so great that the automobile was demolished.

Miss Young, who was in the front seat with McAfee, was hurled about thirty feet, the flagman at the crossing picked the girl up in a dazed condition. She was revived and taken to the hospital, where physicians said she received numerous cuts on the head, face and body. Her condition is not serious.

DEMOCRATS NAME WOMAN COMMITTEE SECRETARY

Miss Rose Murphy Is Elected First Woman Secretary of Mason County's Democratic Committee.

Precinct committeemen named by the Democratic voters of the various precincts throughout the county met at the court house Monday morning for the purpose of perfecting the new Democratic County Committee to serve for the next four years.

There are thirty precincts in Mason county at present and the party law provides that there shall be one man and one woman elected from each precinct, making a county committee with a membership of sixty persons. At the meeting held today a motion prevailed authorizing the County Chairman to name a committee of ten to act as an executive committee, the large committee being too unwieldy. Chairman Sulser took time in naming the members of this executive committee.

Mr. A. G. Sulser was unanimously re-elected County Chairman and Miss Rose Murphy, Deputy County Clerk, was unanimously elected Secretary of the committee. Miss Murphy has the distinction of being the first woman to hold such an office in Mason county.

HIGH CLASS BULL PURCHASED.

Messrs. S. F. Reed and Best & Son purchased a pure-bred Holstein bull of good individuality and excellent breeding from the Adina Farms last week. This is the fourth pure-bred bull sold by Adina Farms in Mason county in the past eight months, and three of them have been sold to farmers who were starting in the Holstein business. The cow testing work done by the Experiment Station in Mason county has proven that there are as good cows here as there are to be found in the state, and under the present condition of farming it would appear that the men who have good cows and take care of them are the ones who will profit on their year's work.

STATE TAX BODY OK'S MASON TAXES.

County Clerk James Owens was advised this morning that the State Tax Commission had placed its official O. K. on the Mason county assessment of $25,135.364 for this year and immediately Mr. Owens and his deputies began the work of issuing the five thousand tax receipts for the county.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Morgan, of East Second street, have returned home after a visit with her brother, Mr. Thomas O'Cull, of Manchester, Ohio.

DOVER CREAMERY IS PURCHASED BY THE ADINA FARMS

Owners of Dairy Herd Purchase the Creamery Located at Dover —Dover Again on Boom.

Word reached Maysville Monday morning through Mr. J. Elgin Anderson that Adina Farms had purchased the Dover Creamery and would take possession at once. Until it became impossible to secure drivers for milk routes, this was one of the most profitable creameries in the state, and while the plans of the new owners have not been announced as yet, it is not improbable that Dover will soon be one of the largest shipping points for dairy products in this section of the state.

The owners of Adina Farms have already signified their intention of producing Certified Milk, and this specialty product in connection with the regular run of market milk and cream will be a big addition to the business of this growing little city in the lower end of the county.

Another innovation at Dover is the monthly stock sale, the first of which will be held Saturday, May 21. These sales will be held the third Saturday in each month. Among other consignments will be some purebred Holstein calves from the Adina Farms herd, and some pure-bred Poland-China hogs.

WILL WED MAY 24.

First announcement of the approaching wedding of Miss Elizabeth Higgins, of the county, and Mr. John Collopy, of Cincinnati, was made at St. Patrick's church Sunday morning. They will be married in this city on May 24.

OUR POLICY:

And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

IMMIGRATION PROSPECTS.

In the century ended with the year 1920 the United States received 33,200,103 immigrants. Of these 8,205,675 came from the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, 5,494,539 from Germany, 2,134,414 from the Scandinavian countries, 4,100,740 from Italy, 4,068,448 from Austria-Hungary and 3,311,406 from Russia. The bulk of the latter three groups entered America since 1890, and it is from the countries of Southern and Eastern Europe that the impending enormous influx is expected. The point is made by students of race movements that the racial character which the earlier Anglo-Saxon immigration gave to the people of the United States is now in danger of being overwhelmed owing to the difficulties of even so great a population as our assimilating millions of new arrivals so different from the original stock. This must be the important consideration leading to decisions with respect to restrictions on immigration, it is held, and not without reason.

Official statistics reveal that up to the outbreak of the war in Europe we were receiving a quite uniform and large number of immigrants annually from the United Kingdom, though the movement of Germans and Scandinavians hither had greatly declined. This supported the original stock and aided materially in mitigating or slowing the racial change inevitable through the introduction of veritable hordes from Southern and Eastern Europe. Left to choose, Britons and Irish desirous of migrating probably would continue to come to the United States in large numbers, offsetting in part the racial dilution for which the other kind of immigration is responsible. But we seem destined to be denied a great share of that which would be most welcome.

Even in the midst of war the far-sighted British government undertook an inquiry as to the probable trend of emigration when peace should be made and it was then decided that so far as could be the Britons who would not stay at home must be induced to go to British possessions, this for economic and protective reasons. Now the Round Table, a quarterly devoted to British political and economic interests, has made an exhaustive study of the migration of the races and intimates a decision that must deeply concern Americans. It admits there will be an enormous movement from Europe and asserts that the new type emigration from the southern and eastern sections is not desirable in Canada or Australia because it will be too heavy to be assimilated. Britons will flit by the thousands, but "it should, however, be a cardinal point in our policy to see that those of our people who are determined to go abroad do not settle outside the empire. And there may be exceptional temptations in that direction, if it is true there is an unusual disposition in America to welcome British immigration."

The disposition hinted at may be taken for granted. Obstacles to its satisfaction which may be interposed, cannot, perhaps, be overcome, but in that case our government will have to consider the effects of an influx offering no new strength to our old stock.

WOMEN TAKE FORESTRY LEAD.

Take a look at Tennessee! That state has just passed a forest study law that it will be well for every state to look into. They are going to study forestry in the schools of that state now that the Legislature has passed the law authorizing such work in conjunction with nature study of every kind.

The Nashville Art Association, aided by the educational campaign of the American Forestry Association at Washington, did it. The national tree voting campaign of the association was put on in every county in the state. The art women got busy with pictures and charts.

Tennessee has forests, but intends now to have some more. In this country we have 81,000,000 acres of idle land. That vast area can be put to work growing trees, the American Forestry Association points out. The forest fire bill of the country is around $25,000,000 every year. There were fifty-one forest fires going at one time in the state of Pennsylvania a week or two ago. This is WASTE with a capital W. The American people are famous for it.

In Congress the Snell Forestry Bill is up, and it provides for co-operation with the states in forest fire fighting. President Harding has proclaimed May 22-28 as forest protection week. Write your Congressman to vote for the Snell Bill.

What are we doing in this state? Tennessee is going to teach forest values from now on. Forest products enter into the cost of everything. Tennessee has done a good job. Is this state next?

THE CITY HICK FALLS FOR ANOTHER.

Human nature being human nature, the city man falls for the faker as often as the country man—indeed, much oftener, because the vast majority of fakers operate in the cities.

Now there is John Muller, of Philadelphia—population sixteen or seventeen hundred thousand. John answered one of those correspondence school detective ads that give you lessons in plain and fancy detecting, and in a month or two he acquired a diploma, badge, pair of handcuffs, with instructions, and for the pre-war price of $7.50.

Thus equipped, "Detective" Muller went out in "disguise" one day, and found a bunch of amateur baseball fellows in a park, quarreling with the umpire. Muller took the field and attempted to settle the trouble according to Lesson 21, but was invited by one of the ball players to kindly beat it.

Then he produced his badge, as advised in Lesson 9, when another ball player slammed him on the nose. Other members of the team followed suit. The amateur detective reached for his handcuffs, but there was no one who would wear them.

When a policeman reached the scene it was plain that something had gone wrong with correspondence school detecting. Finally the officer rescued Muller from underneath the pile, and took him to a cooler for safekeeping and renovation.

Anybody with brains can learn to be a good detective, but nobody did it in three months and very few in three years.

BREEDING IS IMPORTANT FACTOR IN FARM PROFITS.

Prof. W. S. Anderson Delivers Strong
Address On Better Breed
Stock on Kentucky
Farms.

Breeding is such an important factor in realizing profits on livestock that with the proper steps taken for improving the quality of their livestock in a few years the farmers of this state will reap enormous returns, instead of the present waste of millions of dollars, Prof. W. S. Anderson, specialist in charge of animal breeding at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture declared in an address at the Bourbon Stock Yards. His talk in support of the Farmer's Better Breed Sale of 300 pure bred registered bulls to be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards June 2nd, was the fourth in a series of lectures by the College of Agriculture experts under the auspices of the Louisville Livestock Exchange. The address follows:

For a number of years I have had charge of the Live Stock Exchange run by the Experimental Station and all the correspondence concerning pure bred stock for the state. I am delighted to learn that the Bourbon Stock Yards are going to do something definite in an effort to improve livestock in Kentucky.

Just about a year ago when the slump came in beef cattle prices, the correspondence of my office slumped also. I mean inquiries for pure bred bulls, the thing in which we are most interested, and there has been very little done as far as placing pure bred bulls in the last year. We have done good work in securing dairy cows and better dairy stock for the different sections. The interest in this has increased rather than decreased, but much to our disappointment, the communities that ought to have pure bred stock, have not been interested in securing them, so I am delighted that this institution this Bourbon Stock Yards, is fathering this movement and going to do a work so worthy of success. I want to say to those in charge, that the Experiment Station is leaving nothing undone that they know they ought to do to make this sale a success. We want to see these 300 pure bred bulls go to the sections of the state that need them most and I am here to tell you just why pure bred sires are better for the farmers than the scrub.

Now, as I see it, there are three things we have to have in mind in producing beef cattle for the future, the first, early maturity of the animal, second, economical gain and third top prices when the animals are put on the market. Now market stock can be produced by using registered cows for the simple reason that there are not enough to go around. It would be ideal if the situation was such that all could use registered cows, but not being able to use them, the next best thing is to use pure bred sires. The registered sire carries the factors for early maturing. For many years the pure bred beef cattle have been produced with the idea of early maturity. It would not surprise me if in the near future, we see this change in the production of beef cattle. I believe we are going to come to it gradually, of course, as none come suddenly, to the method of taking a well bred calf and feed from the time it is dropped, the maximum ration instead of the least it can live on. We will keep that calf growing until weaning time, giving it milk enough to keep it in good shape and condition, and begin feeding corn ration before weaning so when it is weaned it will know that it is weaned. This weaning will be about six months or seven months. This calf is in condition will be rushed with the maximum ration instead of the minimum, kept growing until 12, 14 or 16 months when it can then be put on the market as a baby beef. The time is coming when something of this kind will be done to consume, in other words, we are not going to continue the present method raising calves, letting them eat until they weigh 150 or 200 when 4 or 5 months old then roughing it through the first winter, coming out weighing 300 to 320 pounds then taking it through the summer and next winter and not marketing it until it has eaten its head off. That is the old method of producing beef cattle, and for that reason, I say, the early maturing animal is the one we have to depend upon for beef in the future. No other place you can get this early maturity is from registered stock and not elsewhere. You might ask why this is and I answer that from 100 to 200 years the pure bred beef breeds have been bred with the early maturity in view. The slow maturing animal has been weeded out and discarded, sent to slaughter and only animals maturing quickly and come to form and condition quickly have been kept to send on the breed.

The difference sometimes regarded by farmers is the difference between top of the market for average cattle and some other place below, covering their profit and loss. Now what are the things that will enable a carload to top the market. They are, uniformity, condition and quality. You cannot get that unless you go to pure bred breeds for it. You cannot get it from the average farm stock in this state. Now I would not have the impression get out that I am claiming you can take a registered bull and breed to any sort of cow and produce cattle that will mature early, make economical gains and top the market, because a man who expects that is expecting too much but I do say taking the average scrub cow and cross with a pure bred bull, the producing will be better than the cow. This is the point, that while it won't be as good as we would like to have it, it will be better by one half. If we can get pure bred bulls scattered over the state, and I hope this movement will not cease until this is accomplished, the next thing for the Bourbon Stock yards to do is to interest the farmers in retaining on the farms as breeding females, the best heifers and then breed these heifers back to the bull of the same breed. It does not matter what breed, all are good, so that the breed is not crossed, as this will not make for progress and you will not get anywhere if the straight breeding is not adhered to. By using these heifers an bulls of the same breed you get a ¾ and that is an improvement on the half, then this can be continued until a ¾ then a 16-16 is reached and I defy anyone to tell the difference between a 15-16 and a pure bred when brought to the stock yards for sale. This is not impossible, this is not constructive, and we need a constructive method to improve the livestock in the state. I simply used beef animals for illustration as your sale is to be pure bred bulls.

This difficulty will be met that you get a bull into a community a different breed will probably be wanted. Now of course we will work to do the best we can to prevent this. That is, to keep stock in different communities using the same breed instead of mixing up breeds. We will do all we can to keep this movement going until we have improved livestock in Kentucky. If the statement is true that I see posted in the Lobby that the farmers of Kentucky lost $5,000,000 last year in using scrub bulls, what would be true if we had female ¾ pure to use as your purebred bulls? Our stock that would go to the yards would be on an entirely different character from the stock that is coming now.

Finally, I would like to say that a man who buys a pure bred bull, not only buys the animal but the brains the experience, the success of the best men who have given their lives to the advancement of livestock interests. He gets ready made an animal that has cost from one to two hundred years to produce into the making of which there has gone the thought, the energy and in many cases the fortunes of men of ideals and men of ambition. The perfection of our beef breeds is not a thing of weeks. It is the end and results of constructive work men of fortune and men of genius. Some of them breed for profit and obtained it not. Others breed for the good that they might do because of the love of the beautiful. They succeeded and our heritage is their success. The man today who can secure the result of their efforts and he who does it not is a man not alive to his opportunities.

Something You Should Think About

When you buy a house or build a new one, probably the very first thing you do, after you pay for it, is to insure it against loss by fire. Isn't it? And yet you will keep bonds, notes, insurance policies, jewelry and other valuables constantly exposed to loss from both fire and thieves. For almost nothing—less than a cent a day—you can rent absolute security for your small articles of great value in our safe deposit vault. Can you afford to take the risk of losing them for such a small amount? We have provided, for your use, the most modern fire and burglar proof vault in this section of the country. Better come in today and get a private box. As a good, careful business man, how can you be without one?

New York. — The young man who gives the best tips to waiters in New York restaurants nowadays isn't necessarily the careless spender he might be taken for. It may very well be the special mark of thrift. Since the cost of food soared up and up and still girls seem to expect to be asked out to dine, an understanding grew up between the men who took them and the waiters of their special restaurants. The waiters are generally a sympathetic lot—if it doesn't cost them anything. So now the young man leans back and says with the air of a millionaire, a connoisseur, and so forth, "What is particularly good tonight, George?" "George" responds impressively with the least expensive thing on the menu. It's easy then to order it—without even glancing at the card. And the good-sized tip represents interest on the money saved.

Fifth avenue's special way of putting on gala attire is to change her electric light globes from white to yellow. During the recent visit of President Harding, the change was made, and on other festive occasions. It really isn't at all productive of a gay look, and our complexions are something awful to behold underneath it. But for some reason, somebody in charge of such things, likes it as an indication of a celebration. And we have it, in all of its foggy effect.

"The 400," for so long the country's term for New York society, has been disclaimed by its social leaders nowadays. "Four hundred, indeed," they exclaim. "There are not more than one hundred of us. Certainly not." Of that one hundred, they put fifty into the real backbone of society, the "conservative" and the other fifty into the "cave set." And this in spite of the fact that the Social Register lists 5,000 names.

New York women closely interested in the industrial world are showing considerable enthusiasm over the summer industrial course to be given at Bryn Mawr College, this summer. This course, which was founded by the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., as a war emergency course, was such a success from the beginning that money has been given from the Laura Hellman endowment fund to keep it going. It will open June 15. The course which aims at a practical but not materialistic education, is under the auspices of an administrative committee made up from the college and representatives of women in industry. They consider women of 20 to 35 years of age the most desirable students, but will take girls of 18. The course consists of classes in English, public speaking, literature, history, labor movements and labor problems, industrial organization, elementary law, hygiene, and a few other branches. There is a precedent for it in the Ruskin College at Oxford which was established by three Americans with much the same purpose in view as had those who instituted this work at Bryn Mawr. It is, however, the first time such a plan has been tried out in the United States.

The moot question, "Who has Mrs. Julia Brown's new $55 set of false teeth?" was asked in Essex Market court the other day and not answered. Mrs. Brown says that John Mayowitz took them one night when she was staying with the Mayorowitz family. Her host insists that she swallowed them and has offered to pay for an X-ray of the complainant's stomach to prove it. Mrs. Brown doesn't believe in such tampering as X-rays and so the judge dismissed the case much to the chagrin of the assemblage.

Cedarhurst, L. I., is perfectly willing to be loyal when it comes to a war or anything of that sort; but it's off the U. S. Government on matters of weather predictions. After everybody got caught in a clothes-devastating rain the other day because the weather report had read "Fair and Warm," Cedarhurst called a town meeting to do something about it. They decided to secede and run their own weather. So a collection was taken up to buy a barometer. This will be put up in the park and everybody can consult it and scorn the very existence of the government words.

If a manager had engaged the cast for the Actor's Equity performance the other night, it would have cost him $480,000 for one performance — $3,840,000 for a week's salaries.

One of New York's residential hotels has solved the problem of what to do with the children under its roof. It's put them to school just as people have done since time immemorial when homes became too chaotic. On the roof of the Majestic Hotel, this school is flourishing, and it takes boys and girls of almost all ages, beginning with those not much past the first year of walking. It's not merely a play school either, but a fully accredited and smoothly running institution.

New York. — Baltic, Olympic and Adriatic they were christened, and no one broke a bottle of even near champagne over them. "They" means three babies born on the liner Adriatic which arrived the other day from Cherbourg. They are the children of three steeple couples; and Captain Hambleton, being appealed to for help in naming them, did his loyal duty to his line of steamers.

The female butcher is the latest New York development of a feminist age. In a shop in the market district girls have taken the place of men behind the counters. "Much better than men," says the owner of the place. "The yodn't waste as much meat and keep their chop blocks cleaner. I don't see anything radical about it. I lived on a farm when I was a boy and mother could do this work a good deal better than any of these girls."

Poor Frederick O'Brien! He made Tahiti and the South Seas famous with his "White Shadows" and now comes word to New York that he mustn't go back there — and he's already on the way. The skipper of a trading schooner down there didn't care at all—not at all—for the picture O'Brien drew of him and has been awarded by a court at Papeete 10,000 francs damages against the author. O'Brien's friends here are trying to reach him, on board his yacht, warning him to avoid the place he made so romantic to his readers.

If there remains in any mind — man's or woman's—a doubt regarding the world-wide influence of the housewife, in her one role as a housewife, that doubt would have fled in defeat from the meeting held the other day of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs. For instance, one resolution which was sent in for their consideration had to do primarily with the buying of food, but ultimately with the distribution of the world's news throughout the country! Of course everyone has been hearing for several years about the serious shortage of newsprint and the difficulties of the newspapers to be going because of that shortage. But the housewife had not thought of it as being her fault that such a condition existed. According to the communication received by the club women, however, she has considerable responsibility in the matter. Only 22 per cent. of all the paper used in this country, it was pointed out, is used by the newspapers. Of the rest a tremendous amount goes into cardboard for cartons and all sorts of containers in which food is sold. The deduction is that because we demand our foods in expensive, dressed-up packages, we have shouldered off the map, the country's supply of paper for the press.

A disheveled teddy bear is occupying a place of honor now in the home of five-year-old Ruth Bader, of Brooklyn. Ruth slipped on the fire escape, fell sixty feet to the stone pavement, landed on the teddy bear and walked away unhurt.

"Two Little Girls in Blue," a new Erlanger musical comedy is one of the productions just opened for the summer season. It is staged by New Wayburn, and is one more piece of evidence that no longer does the New York "season" end with the coming of May flowers. Summer sees the same sort of entertainments flourishing as does any other time of year, just as good and almost as many. That's one reason why Manhattan Island is coming to be accepted as one of the summer resorts of the Western Hemisphere.

A New York girl traveling along the coast of South America pretty well stopped traffic down there for awhile; all because of her dog. Sanitary officials at Montevideo insisted that the dog must be killed because of quarantine restrictions due to a pest in Brazil where the steamer had stopped at Rio Janeiro. The officers, however, reckoned without the girl — Miss Muriel Cornelle. She refused to allow the dog to be killed and put up such a good fight, including the drawing in of various consuls of various countries that she won. The dog is still alive and still accompanying her trip.

Anyone who travels on a 2 a. m. train from anywhere to anywhere is accustomed to early morning music. Jazz bands going home from a dance never seem too tired to tune up a bit and every once in a while a barber shop quartet gets aboard. But this was different from the music usually heard at such times. It was on the 2:30 into the city from one of Manhattan's suburbs; and an earnest looking youth boarded the train. Carefully selecting a seat, he drew forth a paper backed book, entitled, "Forty lessons for bass or baritone voice." Apparently unmindful of his fellow passengers he opened at the first lesson and in a perfectly clear voice ran through four exercises before his station was reached.

LUCY JEANNE PRICE.

TAXATION IN THE

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM. Washington, D. C. — That the Republican party made no campaign pledge or early reduction of taxes is asserted by the Republican Publicity Association in a statement issued recently. The statement says:

"A prominent Democratic organ remarks with an attempt at facetiousness that the Republican national administration will talk about reducing taxes but will accomplish nothing soon in that direction. That paper also intimates that the Republicans promised reduction of taxes. As a matter of fact, neither party pledged tax reductions. In the Republican platform adopted at Chicago the section relating to taxation began as follows:

"The burden of taxation imposed upon the American people is staggering; but in presenting a true statement of the situation we must face the fact that, while the character of the taxes can and should be changed, an early reduction of the amount of revenue to be raised is not to be expected. The next Republican administration will inherit from its Democratic predecessor a floating indebtedness of over three billion dollars, the prompt liquidation of which is demanded by sound financial considerations."

"That platform also set forth that in addition to the floating indebtedness of three billions, there is an early maturing bond indebtedness of five billions. As everybody knows, the annual interest burden at the present time is practically equal to the entire government expenditures for all purposes prior to the war. The Republican party dealt frankly and honestly with the voters of the country by expressly asserting that there is no hope of early reduction of taxes. The Democratic platform was not quite so frank, for, although not promising reduction, the Democrats did not admit the impossibility of reduction. They hoped to gain a few votes by leaving the inference that they might reduce the tax burden."

"As to the nature of the changes in taxation, the two parties were in accord. The Republicans promised 'tax laws which do not for tax laws which do, excessively mulct the consumer or needlessly repress enterprise and thrift.' This was aimed at the excess profits tax which has discouraged enterprise and is charged with increasing prices to the extent of 23 per cent. The Democratic platform pledged a revision of the tax laws 'to fit peace conditions so that the wealth of the nation may not be withdrawn from productive enterprise and diverted to wasteful or non-productive expenditure.' This was apparently a pledge to repeal the excess profits tax for that is the tax which has been charged with withdrawing money from productive enterprise."

"As indicated by President Harding in his address to Congress, it is the desire of Republicans to reduce the tax burden if possible, and their ef-orts will be bent in that direction, but it should be distinctly understood that there was no campaign or pre-election promise that such a result would be attained.

"Any attempt of the Democrats at this stage of developments to create the impression that Republicans are guilty of breaking promises if they fail to reduce tax burdens, is dishonest. The Republicans openly declared in their platform that they had no hope of reducing the amount of the burden in the near future. They did promise to substitute a better form of tax—one that would not repress enterprise or needlessly mulct the consumer. This pledge they will keep."

SLEEP REQUIREMENTS

OF CHILDREN.

No child nutrition worker, says the U. S. Public Health Service, can hope to get satisfactory results without insisting on enough sleep for her charges. Besides damaging the nervous system, late hours cause "sleep hunger" and make children nervous and fidgety. The service commends the following precepts just issued by the London County Council: School children aged four years need twelve hours sleep a day; aged five to seven, 11 to 12 hours; eight to eleven, 10 to 11 hours; and twelve to fourteen, 9 to 10 hours. Children grow mainly while sleeping or resting, do you want yours to grow up stunted? Tired children learn badly and often drift to the bottom of the class, do you want yours to grow up stupid? When children go to bed late their sleep is often disturbed by dreams and they do not get complete rest, do you want yours to sleep badly and become nervous? Sufficient sleep draws a child onward and upward in school and in home life. Insufficient sleep drags it backward and downward; which way do you want your child to go? Tiresome children are only tired children; test the truth of this. That a neighbor's child is sent to bed late is not a good reason for sending your child to bed late; two wrongs do not make a right. Going to bed late is a bad habit, which may be difficult to cure; persevere till you succeed in curing it.

THIS YEAR IS MAY 9th

Of all the ways of remembering one's Mother it is very doubtful if any surpasses that of sending her a message in the form of a Greeting Card. It is surprising when one realizes that the thirty or forty manufacturers of Greeting Cards last year sold to dealers, who in turn sold them to sons and daughters, in the vicinity of ten million cards. Think of the sunshine that was brought into the hearts of all the Mothers who were the recipients of tender messages on Mother's Day morning. Remember your mother this year with a Greeting Card.

STEAMER BURNS AT WHARF.

Gallipolis, Ohio, May 9.—The excursion steamer "City of Charleston" and a pump boat belonging to the Hickey Transportation Company, of Cincinnati, were destroyed by fire at a wharf here Sunday night. Captain A. W. Ward, of the "City of Charleston," had left his boat only a short time before the fire started and its origin is unknown.

PREWITT GIVEN TWENTY-ONE YEAR SENTENCE.

Shelbyville, Ky., May 9. — "Guilty with punishment fixed at twenty-one years in the penitentiary," was the verdict brought in Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock by the jury in the trial of R. L. Prewitt, former miller, for the murder of Judge Samuel K. Baird, acting Commonwealth's Attorney, in this city.

LEWIS COUNTY TEAM TO PLAY HERE NEXT SUNDAY.

A combination team of players from Tollesboro and Vanceburg will play the Maysville regular baseball club at the local park on next Sunday afternoon, Manager Dwiro Rees announced Monday morning.

Miss Evelyn Taulbee, of K. C. W., of Danville, spent Sunday with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Woodson Taulbee.

ENDORSED AT HOME.

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Maysville Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Maysville adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

D. S. Stout, 22 East Second street, Maysville, says: "Just after my recovery from pneumonia, my kidneys began to give me trouble. My back had a steady dull ache and it hurt me to breathe. My eyes would get puffy underneath. I knew my kidneys were in bad shape and something would have to be done to check the disorder so I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. It didn't take long to rid me of my trouble. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

WORKING FOR MORE FULL-TIME BOARDS THROUGHOUT STATE

State Health Board Will Give Opportunities To Establish Local Organization In Several Other Counties.

Louisville, May 9. — Now that the Fiscal Courts of the eight counties in Kentucky which at the present time are operating full-time county health boards have renewed appropriations for the support of these boards for another year, the State Board of Health is planning to give other counties in Kentucky an opportunity to establish, on the usual partnership basis with the state board, similar county boards. Dr. A. T. McCormack, State Health Officer, announced here.

These counties which now have part-time boards and which have displayed the greatest interest in health work first will be given this opportunity, according to Dr. McCormack. The partnership basis referred to is the standing offer issued by the State board to any county in Kentucky to contribute as much towards the support of a full-time county board of health as the county itself will raise.

In carrying out this plan to give counties which have expressed interest in health work the first chance to convert their part-time departments to full-time boards, Dr. P. E. Blackberry, director of the State Board of Health's Bureau of County Health Work; Dr. Jethra Hancock, director of the Bureau of Venereal Diseases, and Miss Marian Williamson, director of the Bureau of Public Health Nursing, left Louisville for Bell county, where they will confer with persons and organizations there which have expressed an interest in the establishment of a full-time board of health. Later similar visits will be made to Bracken, Ballard, Fleming, McCracken and other counties, in all of which a similar interest has been displayed.

The Sunday school spirit is surely abroad in Mason county. "Mother's Day" brought out large attendance everywhere. It was such a beautiful day. This with the growing interest in this set aside as "Mother's Day" naturally creates the desire to go to Sunday school and church. For on can hardly think of their young days without thinking of mother and the Sunday school. Programs of unusual interest and impressiveness were given in many churches. The Hilldale school always specializes on its "Mother's Day" program. The one given Sunday was excellent. The program given at the Third Street M. E. was said to be the best ever given at that church. A few schools beat their "Go-To-Sunday-School-Day" attendance. Now is the time while the roads are good for the county schools to build up. May the good work proceed.

The school at the First M. E. Church South, has selected Mr. N. C. Elmore as superintendent. We understand he is a splendid Sunday school man. He will receive a royal welcome in the company of Sunday school officers of the city. All wish for him and his school increased prosperity and interest.

MANY VISIT OLD FEDERAL HILL FROM ALL OVER COUNTRY

Birthplace of "My Old Kentucky Home" Is One of the State's Most Interesting Spots Just Now.

Anybody from Bardstown can tell you what a tremendous amount of interest there is in the "Old Kentucky Home" and of the scores of visitors who have been coming every Sunday for many years just to get a glimpse of it. On bright days, Sundays, or week days, dozens of people stop their cars at the roadside gate and walk up to and around the house. Mrs. Madge Rowan Frost, owner of Federal Hill and grand-daughter of its founder, expressed her keen regret to a recent visitor that she was not able to receive all who come and would like to be admitted. But, although she tried for a long time to extend a welcome, the visitors became so numerous it was utterly impossible.

The writer was at Federal Hill several Sundays ago and talked to two men from Texas, to a party of five from Oregon, to a New Yorker, and to an Englishman, who were among about two hundred different people for whom the rough roads had no terrors sufficient to keep them away from the home. All of the long-distance visitors were keenly interested and most of them had personal associations that traced back to Federal Hill "befo' de wah." When the "Old Kentucky Home" is Kentucky's own, it is not too much to predict that more people will come to see it than now come to Mammoth Cave.

A small contribution from everybody will help J. Barbour Russell, chairman of the local committee working for the campaign to raise the purchase fund to put Maysville on the roll of honor of towns which do their full part toward making the project a success and giving the state this wonderful old place.

COLORED CITIZENS.

Mr. Otto Porter and Miss Emma Wilson, both of this city, were married Saturday afternoon by Rev. J. M. Hayden, at the church parsonage.
